Ceremony Held Friday Evening

Friday evening climaxed 12 years of schooling for the forty graduants of Frank Maddock High School in Drayton Valley. Graduation ceremony got under way with the banquet commencing at 6:30 p.m. in the Elk's Hall.

Grace was said by Reverend D. Snell, after which a turkey dinner was enjoyed. The toast to the Queen was given by Stan Luchak who was followed by Arnold Webber with his toast to the School Board. A reply was made by Mr. Frank Maddock for whom Frank Maddock High School was named. Immediately after this, Wilma Oliver gave the toast to the staff to which Miss M. Williams replied.

An address from Town Council was presented by Mrs. M. Burrows and the toast to the parents by Lorna Lambert. Replying to this toast was Mr. F. DeGeest.

Next on the agenda came the presentation of scrolls by Mr. D. Ray in the absence of Mr. T. McManus, principal. Upon completion of the scroll presentation, Mrs. H. Lam-brecht proposed the toast to the graduates.

The valedictory address was aptly delivered by Rolf de Geest, who holds the highest academic average for Grade XII. Grant Jahnke introduced the guest speaker, Mr. I. Casey.

The banquet concluded with the singing of "God Save the Queen" after which the graduates went to Jacob's Studio for group photographs.

The Grand March was held at 10:00 p.m. in the gymnasium of Frank Maddock High School where the graduation dance had commenced at 9:30 with music supplied by the "Shades."

Mr. D. Ray introduced each graduate as he was presented with his graduating pin by Miss Doell.

The evening was brought to a close upon the completion of the last number by the band at 2:00 a.m.

Air Cadets Compete In Finals

The R.C.A.F. Air Cadet Squadron #733 of Drayton Valley represented their Wing in the Drill and Sports Competition Group Finals held in Namao last Sunday. The local squadron, sponsored by the Drayton Valley Branch of the Royal Canadian Legion, competed in volleyball, agility and shooting.

The volleyball team representing Squadron #733 put up a gallant battle before bowing out in the semi-final round against a team from #533 Squadron of St. Albert. The local team, trained and coached by Bert Telford won over Squadron #42 of Wetaskiwin in a thrilling contest in the quarter finals. The St. Albert team took group honors by defeating the team from the Lamont #287 Squadron in the volleyball finals.

The Drayton Valley Agility team came second in their competitions. The team, trained and coached by Delbert Rey put on a fine display and were judged runners-up to the #524 Bon Accord team.

With the help of some excellent marksmanship by Allan Schultz the Drayton Valley shooting team came in second place in that competition.

These competitions sponsored by the Alberta Provincial Committee of the Air Cadet League of Canada have proven to be very popular with the cadets and we certainly look forward for this program to continue and expand in years to come.

A CURE FOR OFF-LINE PUTTINGCORRECT INCORRECT

Obviously, your putter's face must be looking down your intended line when it meets the ball. Otherwise your putts are not going to have much chance of dropping. Yet, many golfers fail to stroke their putts on line because they allow their left wrist to start collapsing before the ball is on its way (see illustration). Unless your left wrist remains firm, the clubface will be turned to your left when it meets the ball. This will cause you to pull your putts. It may, over a period of time, cause you to start compensating by pushing them to the right.

Simply grip your putter so that the back of your left hand faces down the target line. Keep it facing down this line both on your back and on your through stroke. If the back of this hand moves through the ball along the line, your putter will face down the same line. (See illustration).

SEEDING PRACTICES FOR FORAGES

Seed Bed Preparation: A firm clean seed bed is essential. The land should be well packed. This will help to maintain uniform depth of seeding.

Time to Seed: Spring seeding has given good results especially after periods of severe frosts have passed.

Forage seedings are most successful when there is an adequate supply of moisture. Therefore the grower is well advised to wait for a good soaking rain, then seed the forage as soon after as conditions permit. The practice of seeding into dry soil and hoping for rain to follow is indeed a risky one.

Companion Crops: In general companion crops provide competition to the forage seedlings, and a weaker stand will result than when seeded alone. Nevertheless, where soil drifting or eroding is a problem a companion crop will help to hold the soil until the forage becomes established. Where used, the recommended crop is oats at half the usual rate seeded in a separate operation.

Perhaps the most important practice of all is to remove the companion crop early. Many growers prefer to cut the crop for greenfeed thus eliminating the competition early.

Frequently weeds are a problem if a companion crop is not used. These may be controlled by clipping or by spraying with chemicals. All the grasses are tolerant to 2, 4-D and all legumes except sweet clover can be sprayed with M.C.P. Follow the manufacturer's recommendations regarding rates of application.

Inoculation: Legume seeds should be inoculated. When buying inoculum specify the crop for which it is intended. Proper inoculation will pro-

CANADA'S CENTURY

A news background special on the Centennial of Confederation

The Need Was Compelling

(Third Of A Series)

By WALT McDAYTER

Canada was created a nation in 1867 more of necessity than of desire.

It was neither patriotic zeal nor nationalistic aspirations that chiefly drew the Fathers of Confederation to the conference table at Charlottetown and Quebec in 1864. Their motivation was far more practical, based on the realization that only through union could the British North American colonies solve their economic, political and defense problems.

The 33 delegates who met for 17 days at the Confederation Conference in Quebec knew only too well that many opposed the proposed federation. Politicians, being a cautious breed, decided to carry on their discussions behind closed doors. Once their 72 resolutions had been drawn up, outlining the terms of union, the delegates thought it would be expedient to keep the document a secret until an opportune time.

They never had the chance to decide on an "opportune" time. An enterprising newspaper in Prince Edward Island somehow acquired a copy of the document, and published it . . . and across the colonies came an outcry of alarm!

The people of New Brunswick demonstrated their disapproval of Confederation with embarrassing clarity! In the March, 1865 elections they voted every single delegate who had attended the Quebec Conference, including Premier Samuel L. Tilley, out of office.

The wrath of the voters of Nova Scotia was equally devastating. In the first national election, Nova Scotians voted against all but one of the pro-Confederation candidates.

But contrary to some appearances, not everyone in 1867 was opposed to the idea of federation. Businessmen and farmers, for example, saw union of the colonies as an economic necessity. Such a union would offset the loss of trade with Britain due to her lowering of timber preferences in 1842 and the repeal of the Corn Laws in 1846. It was necessary also to establish an alternative trade area to compensate for the anticipated loss of U.S. trade as a result of the abrogation of the Reciprocity Treaty in 1866.

It was hoped the loss of this trade could be alleviated by knitting the BNA colonies into an economic unit, allowing goods to cross interprovincial borders tariff-free.

To carry this trade between the colonies, new railways would have to be built, and it was this promise which was likely the strongest of all incentives to unite.

In addition, some saw nationhood as mandatory for defense. During the U.S. Civil War, Canada and Britain had almost become embroiled into a war with the Northern Army over the Alabama Incident and the Trent Affair, and it was feared the Yanks might yet march into Canada.

As well, the Fenians, members of an Irish-American militant society intent on conquering Canada to spite Britain, were increasing hostilities on our borders.

Only by combining forces could the colonies hope to defend themselves against any major U.S. assault.

There were other reasons urging federation as well: to protect the Canadian west from being annexed by Americans; to prevent U.S. infringement of the Maritimes' fishing rights; and to end a political deadlock.

It was all these reasons combined that convinced four colonies of British North America to throw away the crutches of colonialism, and to stand on their own feet as a nation.

PROSPECTS GOOD FOR '66

Economy Records Excellent Year

Alberta's economy had an excellent year by any criterion, according to the Alberta Bureau of Statistics. The Bureau, a branch of the Alberta Department of Industry and Development, indicates several reasons for this statement.

"Livestock sales and value rose considerably; very significant grain sales contracts were made with China and Russia... although first direct dollar benefits will be received by Albertans only in 1966. The value of minerals produced rose by nearly nine per cent. Manufacturing plant shipments were seven per cent higher than in 1964. There is evidence that the construction industry far exceeded expectations of early in the year. Labour income rose by 12 per cent; retail sales by seven per cent. A higher proportion of the labour force found continuous employment than for several years".

In addition, the branch finds that prospects for 1966 are also very encouraging.

"The effects of the additional grain sales will be significant in 1966, livestock prices appear to be very firm or rising. Sales of minerals of the types produced in Alberta are increasing steadily if not as spectacularly as in the early 1960's. The tremendous backlog of construction work begun in 1965 is carrying over. In view of the higher incomes and high economic activity in Western Canada, there is little likelihood of a slackening in volume of manufacturing. Labour income will likely rise substantially as indicated by wage increases being won through tougher union bargaining. It follows that dollar volume figures for retail trade will also increase noticeably. Despite the ever larger increments to the labour force which are now appearing annually, there is a fair prospect of as near complete absorption as took place in 1965".

Pollution Control

September 15th of this year will mark the conclusion of the first five year air pollution control program instituted by the Alberta Department of Public Health. As from this date, compliance with provincial regulations covering the release of toxic, odorous and noxious material into the atmosphere becomes obligatory and offenders may be charged with a $500-a-day fine, following summary conviction, for as long as the offence continues.

vide the necessary bacteria to enable the legume plants to utilize nitrogen from the atmosphere. Never mix inoculated seed with mercurial seed treatments or with fertilizers as these will destroy the bacteria.

Seeding: Forage seeders are not essential; but they usually give better results. When other methods are used care must be taken to ensure shallow seeding, a well packed seed-bed, and a uniform rate of seeding.

Flanges for the discs of a double disc drill will help prevent seeding too deep. Packing the soil prior to seeding, and removing pressure springs from the drill are practices which also help to ensure shallow seeding. The use of a press drill will pack the soil around the seed thus encouraging better germination.

Forage seed attachments are available for the ordinary grain drill and these will meter out small seeds accurately. Where the main drill box is to be used, a filler, such as cracked wheat, may be mixed with the seed to maintain constant flow.

Broadcasting should only be done where it is impossible to use a drill, and this should be followed by harrowing to mix the seed with the top half inch of soil.

Firmness is that admirable quality in ourselves that is merely stubbornness in others.

Violet Grove Couple Wed In Drayton United Church

In the Drayton Valley United Church, on Thursday, April 14th, a double-ring wedding ceremony was held uniting in marriage Edna Lesley, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Look of Violet Grove and Charles Allen, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Art Smith, also of Violet Grove. Rev. James Strachen performed the ceremony. Mrs. H. Pickup was at the organ.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was beautiful in a gown of traditional styling. The long torso bodice was made of Chantilly lace and featured lily-pointed sleeves. The neckline was trimmed with tiny pearl sequins. The floating bouffant skirt of silk organza over taffeta had wide bars of Chantilly lace inserted around the skirt. At the back the skirt dipped into a small train. Her shoulder-length cloudy veil was held in place by a crown of pearls and she carried a bouquet of cascading dark red roses, stephanotis and rosebud streamers.

Matron of Honor was Mrs.

Helen Boodle, the bride's sister-in-law and Miss Glennis Smith, sister of the groom, as bridesmaid. They wore floor-length dresses with matching coatees of peau de soie in pink and sage green, respectively, and shoulder-length veils. They both carried bouquets of white carnations and wore pearl drop pendants gift of the bride.

The groom's attendants were his friends, Mr. Dennis Berg, who came all the way from McMurray to attend and Mr. Seigmore Sowada of Violet Grove and another friend and co-worker from Edmonton.

Ushers were Arthur Wikon and Roger Warsba, both of Violet Grove.

Flowers for the church and later transferred to the bride's table were large and small white chrysanthemums and red carnations.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Look chose a two-piece outfit. The dress, in turquoise brocade, and full-length coat of turquoise frosted organza, were complimented by a soft straw hat in matching color and white accessories. She wore red rosebuds en corsage.

Mrs. Smith, mother of the groom, wore a two-piece ensemble of azure blue brocade. The sheath dress and three-quarter length coat was accented by pink accessories and a corsage of pink carnations.

Mrs. E. M. Thompson of Silver Park, Saskatchewan, grandmother of the groom, also chose blue.

A reception for a hundred and twenty-five guests was held in the Elks Hall.

The bride's table was centred by a three-tiered wedding cake, made and beautifully decorated by Mrs. Edith Dunnington, and flanked by white candles. The centre damask tablecloth, over 60 years old, was brought from England by Mrs. Look 37 years ago.

The happy couple went on a two-week honeymoon to Jasper, Banff, Victoria and down through the States.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith will make their new home in Yellowknife where the groom has been transferred from Edmonton.

Out of town guests came from Peace River, Silver Park, Saskatchewan; Crooked River, Saskatchewan; Calgary, Ponoka; and Edmonton.

A group of 60-foot evergreens will be transplanted from the West Coast for the Western Provinces pavilion at Expo 67.

Our Alberta Heritage

GREAT NORTHWEST PIONEER VILLAGE

See how one man recaptured the spirit of Alberta's pioneer past.

The Great Northwest Pioneer Village is more than a museum — it is a monument to the pride one man has in our Alberta heritage. That man is Earl Danard, son of a pioneer family. He has assembled a fascinating collection of thousands of relics and artifacts, housed in twenty-five original pioneer buildings. Mr. Danard's unique collection includes antique cars and engines, cutters and buggies, the first Indian school (built on the Winterburn Reserve by Rev. A. B. Baird in 1883), and an authentic Greek Orthodox chapel that accommodates just two worshippers.

This living historical village represents a tremendous outlay of interest, time and effort in creating a unique tribute to the pioneer history of our Alberta.

Take your family out to visit the Great Northwest Pioneer Village soon. It's located just twenty-three miles west of Edmonton on Highway 16.

A.R.D.A. ADMINISTRATION REPORTS

Good Potential in C.D. 14

A good potential for future economic expansion in the Rural Development area of C.D. 14 was outlined recently in a report by the provincial A.R.D.A. administration. The Rural Development area centers around the towns of Edson and Hinton and North to Whitecourt.

The report, based on a survey of human and economic resources in the area, was conducted by the Agricultural Economics Division of the Alberta Department of Agriculture.

The report noted that the presence of vast quantities of coal, numerous gas and oil fields, an abundant supply of water and extensive forest cover are all conducive to future economic expansion. It also said the use of agricultural land could be further developed, although the amount of arable land available for homesteading is practically exhausted.

Low incomes from the sale of agricultural products, relatively poor land, and in some cases, adverse climatic conditions have plagued the development of agriculture in the area. Many farmers in the area supplement their incomes with earnings from employment in other industries. Although some of the farm units are too small to be economically viable, the report noted that farm development could be improved by the use of better farming practices, a greater use of credit, and the development of local markets.

According to the survey, the rural development area is in a location just waiting for further development of recreation and tourism. Situated on a major highway, adjacent to Jasper National Park, the abundance of fishing, big game hunting, scenery, and ghost towns all invite the expansion of the industry.

The report noted a steady growth in population despite wide fluctuations in some parts of the area. As is, the trend in the rest of the province, and increasing number of people have been moving to the urban centers and the farm population has been continually declining.

The educational level of the population is slightly below the provincial average. The survey found that due to a lack of skills in the local labor force, industry is sometimes forced to seek employees from outside the census division.

Agriculture Minister Harry E. Strom, whose department co-ordinates the ARDA program in Alberta, said he was pleased with the optimistic tone of the report. He said it would be discussed with the ARDA groups in Census Division 14 and that hopefully, they would take the initiative in development with the government providing the co-ordination and technical assistance required.

Evansburg News

Mrs. Bruner, Correspondent

There has been quite a change in the scenery since the past week but that doesn't mean that the weather is cooperating. I still haven't had much of the urge to go plant garden yet but suppose it will have to be done soon.

The both schools here in Evansburg held their eliminations to pick their candidates for the track meet to be held in Wildwood next week. Best of luck to the contestants who will be competing for their schools.

Wishes for a speedy recovery are sent to Mr. H.
Greaves who is in an Edmonton hospital. Mrs. Greaves who is at home has been on the sick list herself so hope she is better soon.

The road from the village centre to our place has been torn up with ditching operations and we hope it is repaired before foul weather blows this way or we will be back in the homestead days when all roads were feet deep in mud when it rained.

Mrs. A. Horst and child were taken to hospital after being involved in a road accident. Both are reported doing fine.

At the last Cub meeting some of the boys could be seen hopping around in gunny sacks practising their sack race while others were practising their semaphore. The Scouts have been busy getting their camping gear together for their camping trip.

Family Fads and Fashions are closing out. We will miss having a cheerful chat with Mrs. Fausak when down town doing the shopping.

An average of 20,000 purebred Holstein-Friesian cattle-- enough to produce roughly 5,000,000 quarts of milk annually -- have been exported from Canada each year for the past two decades, according to the Department of Trade and Commerce.
